A Search for buried treasure

Key Stage 2

Warm-up exercise! Use the Map of the Avebury Monuments to plot the co-ordinates of the centre of Avebury Henge, Silbury Hill, West Kennet Long Barrow.

Remember! When you plot co-ordinates on a map you need to look for the number along the bottom first, then up the side. It helps if you remember 'Along the hall then up the stairs'.

The search begins!

There is a story that a king called Zel was buried on his horse in golden armour. His bones lie somewhere on this map. Use the 10 clues to try to find him!

Clue 1. Find the square 08 71. There is a Neolithic (Stone Age) monument here. What is it called?

Clue 2. Follow the bridleway east from Windmill Hill, until you join the main road. What is the number of this road?

Clue 3. Follow the road to Avebury. In which direction are you travelling?

Clue 4. As you pass through Avebury Henge, turn north east and go along the Wessex Ridgeway. Are you travelling uphill or downhill?

Clue 5. When you reach the square 12 70 turn right and follow the Ridgeway southwards.

Clue 6. Keep going until you reach the A4. Turn west. After about 1 kilometre, the road you are on follows the line of a much older road. Who built the old road?

Clue 7. Stop where the road crosses the river. Straight ahead of you is a huge grassy hill. This is the place you have been looking for! What is it called?

BAD NEWS! There is no sign of King Zel or his horse. Many archaeologists before you have excavated to find out why the Hill was built 4,400 years ago. But it is still a mystery. Perhaps you have a good theory of your own?
